LAWS OF THE GAME.

Proposal by the Scottish Football Association was, in an amended form, declared to be adopted by the requisite majority, La Federation Internationale de Football Association alone being against :—

PRESENT LAW.	ALTERATION.
Law 7.—When the ball is played behind the goal-line by a player of the opposite side, it shall be kicked off by any one of the players behind whose goal-line it went, within that half of the goal area nearest the point where the ball left the field of play; but, if played behind by any one of the side whose goal-line it is, a player of the opposite side shall kick from within 1 yard of the nearest corner flag-staff. In either case an opponent shall not be allowed within 10 yards of the ball until it is kicked off, and the kicker shall not again play the ball until it has been played by another player.	Delete first sentence and substitute:— “ When the ball is played behind the goal-line by a player of the opposite side, it shall be kicked into play beyond the penalty area by any one of the players behind whose goal-line it went, within that half of the goal area nearest the point where the ball left the field of play (a); but if played behind by one of the side whose goal-line it is, a player of the opposite side shall kick it from within one yard of the nearest corner flag-staff ” (b). Law 7 (a). Decision of the International Board of Control. “ It is not permissible for the goalkeeper to take the ball into his hands from a goalkick by a player in order that he may thereafter kick it into play; the ball must be kicked direct from the penalty area into play and, if not kicked beyond the penalty area, the kick shall be retaken.” Law 7. Decision of the International Board of Control. Present footnote (a) to become (b).

The Board decided to recommend the British Associations and La Federation Internationale de Football Association to consider whether the principle applying to the taking of a goalkick laid down in Law 7 and footnote (a) thereto should also be made applicable to all free kicks taken by a defending side within the penalty area.

The following proposals by The Football Association were unanimously adopted:—

PRESENT LAW.	ALTERATION.
Law 10. First sentence:—            ‘ When a free kick has been awarded, the kicker’s opponents shall not approach within ten yards of the ball until the kick is taken, unless they are standing on their own goal-line.’ Law 12. First sentence:—            ‘ A player shall not wear any nails, except such as have their heads driven in flush with the leather, or metal plates or projections, or gutta percha, on his boots, or on his shin guards.’ Law 12. Decision of the International Board (b):—            ‘ A player returning to the field of play, or a player joining his team after play has commenced, without reporting to the referee, should be cautioned; if he commits a more important offence apart from that he should be penalised according to the Law.’	Law 2. New footnote (b). Decision of the International Board:—            ‘ (b) A Referee’s control over the players for misconduct or ungentlemanly behaviour commences from the time he enters the field of play, but his jurisdiction in connection with the Laws of the Game commences from the time he blows his whistle for the game to start.’ Law 10. First sentence:—            Add at the end of the sentence “ between the goal posts.” Law 12. First sentence:—            Substitute the following:—“ The nails in a player’s boots shall be driven in flush with the leather and the player shall not wear metal plates or projections of gutta-percha on his boots or on his shin guards.” Law 12. Decision of the International Board (b):—            Add after “ cautioned ” the words—“ and if the game is stopped it should be resumed in accordance with Law 16.” Add at the end of the Decision the words “ he infringes.”

The following proposal by The Football Association was, by leave, withdrawn:—

PRESENT LAW.	ALTERATION.
Law 12. Sixth sentence:—            ‘ A player having left the field of play through this or any other cause, or a player joining his team after play has commenced, may only enter the field when the ball has ceased to be in play, and must report to the Referee.’	After the word “ field ” add “ at the half-way line.”

MISCELLANEA.

1. Intimation having been made of the receipt of correspondence from The Football Association of the Irish Free State, it was decided that an Association not directly represented on the Board could communicate with the Board only through the Association representing their interests; that so far as The Football Association of the Irish Free State is concerned that body is La Federation Internationale de Football Association, which is recognised as the authority controlling the National Associations of all countries in membership.

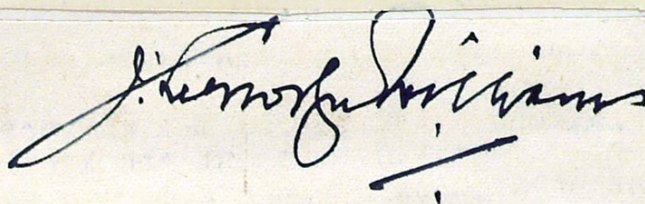

2. The four British National Associations do not recognise officially any Association not in membership with La Federation Internationale de Football Association.

3. To mark the Jubilee of the International Board (1886-1936), it was decided that the representatives attending the meeting this year should receive a specially designed badge, suitably inscribed. The matter was left to The Football Association for arrangement, the cost to be borne equally by the Associations of England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, and La Federation Internationale de Football Association.

4. The Football Association of Wales intimated that the annual meeting of the Board on 12th June, 1937, would be held at Llandudno.

5. The Chairman was accorded a hearty vote of thanks.
